Heramb & Hemanth, grandsons of renowned musician Ambale Subbarao and sons of mridangist Ambale Satyaprakash, learnt under Ambale Rajeshwari and late Bharati Shyamanna. Their training in Carnatic music began when they were four years old in Madikeri. Aged 7, they began learning the flute under Mysore A.S Prakash and have grown from strength to strength to become seasoned virtuosos.

Shruti S Bhat has a rich background in Carnatic Music learning under Kalaimamani Srimushnam Sri V. Raja Rao and Smt Padma Sandilyan. Shruti has a M.A. Music from Madras University and has performed all over India and won numerous awards including “Yuva Kala Barathi” and “Smt. M.S.Subbulakshmi National Award”.

Paavani Cotah and Purva Dhanashree Cotah, disciples of Smt Kalyani Shankar, are both vocalists and violinists. Both Paavani and Purva are very distinguished, having won multiple accolades from a variety of esteemed sabhas across the country.

Vasudha Ravi is a popular young vocalist in the field of Carnatic Music. She commenced her long-standing musical training with Dr.Manjula Sriram for over 20 years. She also had the opportunity to benefit from the guidance of Sangeetha Vidwan Late Shri A.Sundaresan for a brief while. Vasudha is a proud recipient of many prestigious titles. She was interviewed by Ananda Vikatan in 2008.

Sreeusha & Sireesha, popularly known as Mandolin Sisters, started learning mandolin from the age of 5. They have so far given 4000+ concerts throughout the world and have collaborated with foreign musicians on their own compositions. Their concerts have received excellent reviews by leading newspapers and telecast across leading Indian TV channels.

Vishaal R Sapuram, is a highly talented chitravina artiste and is the disciple of renowned chitravina maestro Shri N Ravikiran. A child prodigy, Vishaal has won plentiful laurels and has given lecture demonstrations and workshops at universities and institutes globally.

Kalaimamani Kalasri Dr.M.Narmadha is the daughter and disciple of the renowned artiste Padmashri M. S.Gopalakrishnan. She is a violinist, musicologist and vocalist and holds a PhD in Music. She was trained by her grandfather (Parur A. Sundaram Iyer) and father. Dr.Narmadha has toured all over the world and has been awarded the "Best Violinist" by the Music Academy eight consecutive times.
